

GCS Plans Grand Opening Of Supermarket Tuesday Night

Greenbelt's new co-op supermarket will have its grand opening next Tuesday night, November 9, beginning at 6:30 with a dinner given by the Greenbelt Consumer Services board for the visiting guests, and going on from 8 to 10 with open house in the new building, complete with drawings for door prizes. Big catch of the evening will be a television set, which along with other prizes will be awarded to the holders of the lucky tickets given out at the door.

Free Food

Free refreshments and dancing will be offered to all those attending the opening, which will be advertised throughout the adjoining communities in the county.

More than half the $250,000 needed for the building and its equipment has been supplied by local investment in the co-op. The building will add about 20,000 square feet of floor space to the Center, with a sales area almost three times that of the old food store. It is of reinforced concrete construction on steel framework, with a sand lime brick exterior. It has a fifteen-foot ceiling, with 13-foot plate glass windows, and will be lighted by rows of fluorescent fixtures running the full length of the ceiling.

All Self-Service

The new store will be self-service in all departments, including meat, with a double row of open self-service cases extending the full width of the store to display the meat. Fresh meats will be cut by the butchers working in a white tileboard-lined meat-cutting room in view of the customers. Five check-out counters and wide aisles will help assure rapid service to customers. Furnishings are of modern design with aluminum trimming, and the walls are done in a color scheme of cream, turquoise blue and rose. The floor is of terra-cotta and white asphalt tile.

The lower floor of the building is planned to accommodate in the future a ten-lane bowling alley, but will be used temporarily for storage for the market upstairs. The two levels are connected on the outside by a wide stairway next to the statue in the Center. The new store is connected by a colonnade to the theater, valet shop and drugstore.

Open Sundays

The new store will be so completely self-service that it will be possible to keep the store open on Sundays and weekday evenings by using a skeleton staff of about three persons, instead of the normal crew of 25. Present plans call for store hours from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday to Friday, with Sunday and Monday hours from noon to 9 p.m., and Saturday 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Merchandise to be handled in the store will include, in addition to groceries, meats, and produce, such items as ice cream, baked goods, frozen foods, and a complete line of delicatessen items.

When the food store has been transferred to its new location, a passage will be made between the old food store space and the variety store to permit expansion of the variety store into a junior department store.

Women's Club To Hear Talk On The Orient

The Woman's Club of Greenbelt will meet November 4 at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Nelson, 45-L Ridge Road, at 8:15 p.m.

The meeting will be devoted to International Relations, and the speaker, Mrs. Arno Viehorer, will talk on her experiences in the Orient. Her topic will be "Half Way Around the World."

Mrs. Nelson will be assisted by Mrs. W. F. Ehrhardt, Mrs. Helen Evans, Mrs. Matthew M. Fontaine, Mrs. John Gale, and Mrs. E. Paul Hawk.

G'blt Secedes From Md.; Gives Vote To Truman

Greenbelt followed the national trend in the presidential election Tuesday rather than that of Maryland, whose electoral votes went to Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

Of the 833 presidential ballots counted, 454 (54%) were for President Harry S. Truman; 321 (38%) for Dewey; 40 (5%) for Progressive candidate Henry A. Wallace; 17 (2%) for Socialist candidate Norman Thomas; and one vote was cast for States Rights candidate Strom Thurmond.

Congressman Lansdale G. Sasser, Democratic incumbent, was re-elected with 577 (70%) of the total Greenbelt vote for U. S. representative from the 5th Congressional District. C. Maurice Wiedemeyer was given 243 votes (30%).

300 At Recreation Department Party

Over three hundred boys and girls gathered in the Center school auditorium last Saturday night for the annual Halloween party sponsored by the Recreation Department. While dancing was going on in the auditorium to the music of Bob Goodman's trio, apple bobbing and apple biting were conducted in the social room by Ellen Line.

At intermission time, Charlie Fox of the Maryland University Gymkana Troupe entertained the boys and girls with a group of tricks ranging from handstands to difficult balancing on chairs. Carol Holien offered two selections, "A Slow Boat to China" and "Blue Moon" accompanied by the orchestra.

Following this the group joined in for a grand march showing off their Halloween get-ups. Helen Greer as a peasant girl won for the prettiest costume, and Jim Stripling in a bum's outfit was chosen the funniest. Each was presented with a jack-o-lantern filled with candy and a free pass to any Sidney Lust theater. Town Manager McDonald, Councilwoman Harrington, and Mr. Harrington acted as judges.

Highlight of the evening was the drawing for the door prizes, two tickets to the Redskins game. These were won by Marilyn Bierwagen and Pat Hogan much to the disappointment of a large group of boys.

The Recreation Department was assisted by members of the Advisory Board of the Drop-Inn and several other volunteer parents.

Youngsters Jam Drop-Inn Party

About 250 elementary school boys and girls attended the party planned for them by the Recreation Department at the Drop-Inn last Saturday night. The children were entertained by Dorothy Dennard in a tumbling act; the Lorea Sisters, who sang "On the Boardwalk in Atlantic City," and by Eileen Scully, who sang the "Blue Danube Waltz." Bobbing for apples with pennies in them was part of the program, and this was followed by the children marching to juke box music while their costumes were judged.

Jana Lee Andrusic's costume was judged the prettiest; Clifford Woodward's the ugliest; Brian Davis' the weirdest; and Marion Higgins and Gloria Bradley were judged the most uniquely dressed couple.

Refreshments were served in the snack-bar by Mesdames Romer, Snappert, Andrusic, Bibler, Des Maret and White.

Council Hears Vandalism Reports As Cries Of 'Gestapo' Echo

Hallowe'en vandalism and police efforts to curb it took the spotlight at last Monday's town council meeting and held it for nearly two hours.

A delegation of nearly thirty young men attended the meeting to protest police action at the center at ten o'clock Sunday night. Accompanying the young people was Lester Sanders, who said that a group of boys "causing no trouble at the center were picked up in police cars and told to go home or else they would be taken to Hyattsville." A mother of one of the boys made the same protest stating that her son and two friends were merely talking at the center when they were picked up by the police and taken home. She demanded a public apology from the police department.

Vandalism

Charles T. McDonald, town manager, gave the town's side of the story after a number of boys had spoken. He said that he had reliable information that a group of boys known to him and to the police had laid plans for Hallowe'en "tricks" for Sunday night when they knew the police force was not expected to be out in strength. The "tricks" became vandalism, he said, and included shooting with a rifle, breaking car windows, stopping cars on the road and painting on a garage which maligned a citizen because of his religion. After these events, the town manager related, the police were under orders to break up groups of boys around the town and see that they went home. The group of three at the center about whom the protest was made were asked to go home, he said, and when they refused to do so and used profane language, were escorted to the police car and driven home.

Voices Concern

Council member Betty Harrington, speaking to the visitors present at the meeting as well as to the council, voiced her deep concern at the expression of anti-Semitism in the painting of a citizen's garage by Hallowe'en celebrants, and said that it presented a basic problem which, for solution, needed the co-operation of all residents, young and old, together with the council.

Councilman Allen D. Morrison asked for a statement from the police before any decision concerning their action at the center was reached, and the council asked Mr. McDonald to investigate and bring a full report to the next meeting.

Gun Club Ordinance

A new ordinance permitting the use of 30-caliber rifles at the Greenbelt Gun Club will be drawn up, the council agreed, following a further investigation of safety factors by the National Rifle Association. Lyman Woodman, president of the Gun Club, said that one reason this action was requested was that many deer hunters are now sighting their 30-caliber rifles in the nearby woods without supervision. As the hunting season opens this month, action is expected to be taken at the next council meeting, November 15.

On motion of Frank Lastner, the council passed a motion protesting the proposed increase in fares charged by Capital Transit Company to school-children.

Discussion of the Welfare Coordination Committee resulted in a request to the town manager to draw up a suggested list, and to the council to consider the powers of such a committee in regulating door-to-door requests for welfare funds.

Guard Armory Report

A National Guard representative, W. J. Van Schelven, brought the council up to date on efforts to secure from Public Housing Administration a site for the proposed

Police Report Busy Weekend; Pranksters(?) Hit New Low

The Police Department's switchboard was kept busy last weekend with calls reporting Hallowe'en mischief in all parts of town.

The most vicious mischief was perpetrated against one family when the man's name and an obscene expression against his religion were painted on the garage behind his house.

A woman was shot at with an air rifle after her window was broken with a rock. The Greenbelt statue had dabs of paint on it, and the word "communist" was painted on the brick of the new food store near the plate glass window on the lower level facing the Center.

Police Chief George Panagoulis reported last Tuesday that he was working on leads and hoped to apprehend the culprits soon.

The largest number of calls were received by the Police Department on Friday night. The chief complaints were broken windows; cut clotheslines; broken porch lights; garbage disturbed in the apartment buildings; and air let out of tires.

Passing through the Center after 10 o'clock last Sunday night, the police asked the crowds of older teen-agers not to loiter there. Most of them dispersed, but the three who refused to do so were picked up and driven home.

The youngsters were out "trick or treating" on both Friday and Saturday nights, and practically every house in Greenbelt had its windows soaped or waxed.

New Residents Have First "Look-In"

New residents of Greenbelt had a "sneak" preview of the new co-op food store last night at a reception held for them in the new $300,000 building. Residents were greeted by Mayor Thomas Canning, Town Manager Charles T. McDonald, and Frank Lastner, GCS board chairman. Members of the Town Council were also on hand to assist with the welcome. Refreshments were served. Mary Callanan was in charge of arrangements.

GCS plans to have such receptions for new residents from time to time in the future.

Ballroom Dancing Classes Planned

The Arthur Murray School will conduct a class in ballroom dancing at the Center school if enough adult persons are interested. There will be a nominal fee charged.

Two Glee Clubs for fourth, fifth and sixth graders are now meeting at the Center school on Monday from 3:30 to 4:30 and at the North End school on Wednesday from 3:30 to 4:30. All public, private and parochial school children in these grades are invited to attend.

If enough people are interested, a professional golf instructor will come to Greenbelt to conduct a Golf Clinic at a nominal fee.

If you are interested in any of these three groups, please call the Recreation Department, 6966.

The Proof's In The Pudding

The three day Hallowe'en did not leave Greenbelt with the appearance of a blitzed town, as was expected. The USUAL acts of vandalism seem to have been at a minimum.

But while the expected mischief was lighter than predicted, the foul aroma of anti-Semitism that spread heavily over Greenbelt leaves us with shocked hearts and minds.

It is our deep belief that the parents, by their failure to give these youngsters spiritual guidance, are to blame. Clothed since infancy in crib-sheet cloaks and diaper hoods and spoon-fed a diet of hate and envy for their neighbors of different races or religions, it is no wonder they formed a goon squadron and raced through the town giving vent to their feeling of inferiority and insecurity. Victims were, in each case, people greatly admired by the community.

Greenbelt is lucky that so very few of its citizens have cause to demonstrate their feelings of inferiority to their fellow man.

On The Brighter Side

Except for the sickening display of anti-Semitism by a few, Greenbelt had a quiet Hallowe'en. The common, garden variety of vandalism usually associated with hobgoblins was greatly eliminated.

Court parties replaced, on a large scale, the late-hour banging on doors that in previous years had threatened to make neurotics of Greenbelt babies and their anxious parents. Teachers were extraordinarily successful in instilling an awareness of property rights in their pupils. Astute planning of Recreation Department officials gave most of the older children a delightful but constructive substitute, in the form of dances, for clothes-line cutting and similar activities. Police were alert and on the job. Youth organizations—such as the cub scouts—asked for pennies when trick-or-treating, and collected a sizeable contribution for Children's Hospital. Children seemed to enter wholeheartedly into the spirit of fun-without-destruction.

To The Editor:

THANKS

To The Editor:

The Ways and Means Committee of the Greenbelt High School P.T.A. wishes to thank all those who made donations and contributions for the bake sale held last Saturday. Our thanks also go to Mr. Young, the High School Art teacher, Mrs. John Murray, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. D. Walker, and Mrs. W. Bierwagen who devoted time and effort to make the sale a success. A total of $66.80 was added to the P.T.A. treasury.

The bean jar contained 1471 beans. Robert Cookson won the "lamb cake" with a guess of 1431. Again we thank all for their cooperation.

IN APPRECIATION

To the Editor:

May I take this opportunity of expressing my heartfelt gratitude to the many organizations and individuals who so generously gave help to ease the burden in our hour of great bereavement.

Attend White House Tea

Mrs. James McCarl, president of the Auxiliary of the Southern Maryland Dental Association, Mrs. James Gobel and Mrs. Leon Benefiel, president and director respectively of the Women's Club, and about 100 other women were invited to a tea at the White House on Tuesday, October 27. Mrs. Bran-nan, wife of the Secretary of Agriculture, presided as hostess in the State Dining Room where the King and Queen of England were recently received. It was a very successful affair in a beautiful setting.

Barbecue Draws 150

Ideal weather conditions brought out over 150 guests last Saturday to the GAC and Izaak Walton League's barbecue at the Greenbelt Athletic Club house. Both organizations, according to Eli Don Bullion, were well represented in attendance and in the number of assistants, including Mrs. Don Bullion, Mrs. Paul Lung and Mrs. Oscar Zoellner of the Izaak Walton Auxiliary.

Most of the early birds watched the football game on the club's television set. Then, exhausted by their efforts, they tackled the barbecue with a vengeance.

The Izaak Walton League and the Greenbelt Athletic Club expressed their thanks to James C. Smith for putting in eighteen hours over a flaming fire to provide the barbecue.

Cub Scout Pack Collects Money For Hospital

Six 9-year-old boys who belong to the newest den in Cub Pack 202, collected $17.79 mostly in pennies for Children's Hospital on Saturday night and Sunday.

At a meeting last Friday night the Den mothers, Mrs. Herbert Hertz and Mrs. Lyman Woodman, asked the boys if they would collect pennies for the hospital instead of asking for treats on "Beggar's Night." The boys agreed to do so and each was given a little box in which to make their collections.

The six boys were Peter Bowman, Peter Granahan, Kenneth Hertz, Allan Horton, Charles Kennedy and Kent Woodman. They went out alone and in most instances wouldn't accept treats while accepting money.

At the children's party held at the Drop-Inn on Saturday night, $1.90 was collected for Children's Hospital.

Senior Boys Eleven Swamp Meadows 48-0

By Don McCollum

The Senior Boys football team, playing the kind of game they are capable of, defeated a game but hapless Green Meadows eleven 48 to 0, in a Prince George Boys Club League Game.

With the line and backfield clicking like a championship team the boys went on a rampage and scored almost at will. Jernberg led the parade by scoring 3 touchdowns; Hoffstetter scored twice and Lewis and Bauer accounted for one apiece. Martone converted 4 out of 7 of the point after scores and Gussio picked up two more points for the Greenbelters when he tackled a Green Meadows back behind his goal line.

The second string line, starting their first game this season, showed promise of giving the regular starters a battle for their jobs.

Coach Dean was pleased with the showings of all the members of the squad. To keep the score he sent some members of the line into the game to play in the backfield.

So far this year, Greenbelt has averaged 22 points per game. The team is in second place in the league, having won 4 and lost one.

Junior Boys Club Beats Hyattsville By 31-0

The Greenbelt Boys Club Junior team won their fourth straight league game when they defeated Hyattsville 31-0, Saturday, October 31, on the loser's field.

In the first three minutes of play, Billy May intercepted a long Hyattsville pass and ran over for a touchdown. Hyattsville received but lost the ball on downs and then Sonny Dickerson, on a cross buck, ran 50 yards for the second tally of the game.

In the third quarter after the ball had been run up to the 30 yard line, Alan Gerstel received a pass from Joe Brosmer and from there ran over for a touchdown. Rusty Shoop made the only extra point of the game at this time. In the last quarter with only one minute to go and Hyattsville on its own 20-yard line, Greenbelt intercepted

CINEMATTERS

"Life With Father," to be at the Greenbelt Theatre Sunday, was adapted from a play that broke records on Broadway. This play deals with a tyrannical father, an archetype of the absolute family monarch of the 1880's. Lindsay and Crouse, Broadway producers who have a Midas touch in all their theatrical endeavors, showed keen dramatic perception when they used Clarence Day Jr.'s book of the same name as source material. Warner Bros. paid $500,000 and a percentage of the gross receipts for the rights to

I. J. Parker the play, another record. Judging by the box receipts, they have invested wisely.

Clarence Day Jr. joined his father as a business partner after his education. But he left Wall Street to join the Navy during the Spanish-American war. After serving with the Navy he got arthritis, and from middle age was a complete cripple, unable to leave his bed or move more than a finger. Yet he was able to conduct a glove business dabble in the stock market, and write books. He also ran a book section for a magazine and was on the staff of the New Republic. Gradually his fortune disappeared, and it wasn't until the success of his later books that he recouped, any considerable part of it.

In one still popular book, "The Simian World", he depicts with "passionate scrupulousness the ape-like nature of man, and speculates on what the world would be like had come other kind of animal evolved into the dominant breed." He illustrated his books with untrained and haunting drawings which were a blend of Art Young and James Thurber. Incidentally his uncle was the inventor of the Ben Day process used by newspapers for color printing.

a pass and trotted over for the last touchdown.

Next Saturday Greenbelt will play Beltsville at Greenbelt in what promises to be one of the best games of the year.
